THE MINISTER OF COMMUNICATIONS AND INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY (SHRI PRAMOD MAHAJAN): (a) to (c) The performance of private sector investment in many segments of the telecom sector, particularly after New Telecom Policy, 1999 has been generally satisfactory. The Government has, however, taken a number of measures to attract more private sector investment in the telecommunication sector. Some of the recent initiatives are:—

— Unrestricted competition introduced in the areas of basic, international long distance, national long distance, internet, V-SAT services, etc. In case of cellular mobile telephone service, number of operators in each service area has also been increased to four.

— Internet telephony has been allowed from 1st April, 2002.

— Policy for Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) has been liberalized. In some of the services like Internet, Infrastructure Providers, Voice Mail/E-mail, Radio paging, manufacturing, etc., FDI beyond 49% has been allowed.

— Electronic Hardware Technology Park (EHTP) Scheme modified to strengthen the indigenous telecom-manufacturing sector.
